OUR HERITAGE

Established in 1840, The Barbados Mutual Life Assurance Society, now Sagicor Financial Corporation, is one of the oldest insurers in the Americas. From its formative years, the company’s pioneering spirit was evident. It expanded into several Caribbean Islands between 1849 and 1896. Investments were made throughout the former British Empire and in countries such as Norway, Japan, Argentina and the United States.

In November 2002, after 162 years as a mutual company, the policyholders overwhelmingly agreed to demutualize in order to give the company the structure and tools it needed to compete and succeed in a changing world and to better serve the needs of both current and future customers. In 2005, Sagicor Financial Corporation acquired American Founders Life. Founded in 1954 and domiciled in Texas, American Founders Life was re-branded Sagicor Life Insurance Company at the time of the acquisition.

Prior to 2005 the main method of growth was through acquiring blocks of business from other life insurance companies. After the acquisition, Sagicor (U.S.) turned its focus on becoming a direct writer of business. Today, we offer a comprehensive portfolio of life and annuity products.

OUR BRAND

“Sagicor” is a combination of two words, “Sage” meaning wise and “Cor” for heart or judgment. Our name, Sagicor, reflects our dominate philosophy of wisdom with heart. Put another way, it describes the pursuit of our goals and objectives with wisdom, dignity and humility.

Our logo is a symbolic and contemporary rebirth of the Phoenix in our original “Mutual” logo. The blue and green represent the tropical waters, clear blue skies and lush foliage of our Caribbean heritage. Our corporate tagline, “Wise Financial Thinking for Life”, represents our core promise to consumers. It sets an expectation in the customers’ mind of what they should expect from us. “Wise Financial Thinking for Life” represents more than the way Sagicor is run; it is the very essence of what we offer to share with our customers.
