¹All guarantees are based on the claims-paying ability of the issuer. Your interest rate will be based on your premium payment amount and the guarantee period you choose. The minimum payment amount is $10,000. Your financial professional can advise you of the maximum payment permitted at the time you purchase your annuity. No additional payments are permitted once the annuity has been issued.

² If no action is taken at the end of the guarantee period, the annuity will automatically renew for the same number of years as the prior contract (if available). The interest rate at renewal will be the interest rate in effect at the time of renewal. ³ The amount and timing of your withdrawals determine whether they are free or subject to surrender charges. Withdrawals are taxable, and if taken prior to age 59½, are also subject to tax penalties. See page 4 for additional information about withdrawals. Your financial professional can explain more.

⁵Legal domestic partner is defined by federal and state regulations. Please consult a tax or legal advisor for clarification or questions.

An annuity is a long-term financial retirement vehicle. Withdrawals are subject to contract provisions and will reduce the contract value, the amount used to calculate withdrawals or income payments and death benefit amounts. Withdrawals may be subject to income taxes and surrender charges and, when taken before age 59½, may be subject to an additional 10 percent penalty tax. Consult your trusted tax and financial advisors before making withdrawals.

If the annuity contract is held in a qualified account or plan, such as an IRA, the tax deferral feature provides no additional benefits beyond that provided by the qualified account or plan.
